

Daniel's favorite lady at the grocery store said: "I find someone to talk to. Friends always make me feel better."

Not only can social media like facebook lead to cyber bullying they can also separate your child from real people.